President Will Not Fight Cut
In Excise TaxesKnowland Predicts
Committee Bill
Will Pass Senate

WASHINGTON (U)—Republican congressional leaders indicated today that President Eisenhower will make no strenuous efforts in the Senate to reduce the extent of the billion-dollar excise tax cuts.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) said after the weekly White House legislative meeting that the bill would pass the Senate substantially the same as reported by the Finance Committee.

The excise sales tax bill as passed by the House would cost the Treasury about 912 million dollars in revenue. The Senate bill would make a further cut of about 46 million dollars.

Mr. Eisenhower earlier had said the House bill had gone too far, and there had been reports administration efforts would be made in the Senate to lessen the extent of the cuts.

Douglas Urges Bigger Cuts

When the GOP leaders were asked whether Mr. Eisenhower had indicated steps by which the administration might reduce the big slash, House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) said, "No."

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) wants to make even bigger cuts. He is sponsoring a drive to cut excise taxes on new cars by 3 per cent and to wipe out all federal excise taxes on household appliances.

Knowland said he did not believe Democrats in the Senate would attempt to add their proposal for an increase in personal income tax exemptions to the excise tax bill. He figured they would wait to push their proposal in connection with the basic overall tax revision bill.

To Offer Amendments

Douglas, a leader in the Democratic campaign to cut income taxes, planned to offer his proposal as an amendment to the billion-dollar excise cut bill.

His measure would cut new auto prices about $20 and mean a saving of about $35 on refrigerators, stoves and clothes dryers, he said. Autos and household goods now are taxed 10 per cent at the manufacturer's level.

Meanwhile, the Committee for Economic Development, a bipartisan group of top business leaders, urged President Eisenhower and Congress to draft a standby plan for cutting income taxes as an emergency anti-depression measure.

Committee Plan

Sen. Homer Ferguson (Mich.), chairman of the GOP Senate Policy committee, said he certainly "would want to get all the facts" on the proposal and give it "serious consideration."

Under the committee plan, Mr. Eisenhower and congressional leaders would agree now on a "substantial" across-the-board reduction in income taxes that could be put into effect quickly to bolster consumer buying power if business gets bad enough.

Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.) said in a statement today that the chances are good that the Senate will approve the Democratic plan to boost income tax exemptions from $600 to $800 this year and to $1,000 in 1955.

Ferguson said he thinks the Senate will reject the plan.

Other congressional news: Chavez: Knowland said he hopes to get a vote to unseat Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.). Senate Democrats are confident they can beat the Republican move which grew out of Chavez' disputed 1952 election over former Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley.

Housing: The American Hotel Assn. complained to the Senate Banking Committee that apartments, constructed with government financing, are competing unfairly with hotels by taking in transient guests.

Public health: Rep. Timothy P. Sheehan (R-Ill.) told the House Commerce Committee the federal government could eradicate rabies with a vigorous research program and cooperation with state and local authorities in a control program.

Seaway: Rep. Donald W. Nicholson (R-Mass.) raised a question at a House Rules Committee session whether Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey would gain personally by construction of the administration - backed St. Lawrence Seaway. Humphrey formerly headed iron ore interests in Canada which would be served by the waterway.

Mystery Man Touches Off 36-Hour Search
For Non-Existent American Plane

VIPITENO, Italy (U)—A "mystery man" who sent hundreds of police, troops and planes on a 36-hour search for a "crashed American plane" that never existed said today he did it to attract attention to his "pitiful" situation.

Lt. Mario Fichera, commander of the federal police headquarters here, said the man wore a U. S.

Air Force sergeant's uniform but claimed he was a Polish veteran who fought in Italy and later was transferred to England.

The man gave his name as Wasily Kowalenko and said he was born in the small town of Wotamek near Warsaw. Kowalenko said he "received" an American uniform while working in a civilian job with an American command in West Germany and crossed into Italy clandestinely.

No Time Out in Campaigning by GOP Candidates

CHICAGO (U)—With the Illinois senatorial primary drawing closer, four of the Republican candidates didn't bother to take Sunday off in their campaign chores.

Park Livingston said in a televised address Sunday that he favors the revision of the Bricker amendment sponsored by Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.).

The measure would amend the Constitution to limit the President's treaty-making powers, but is less drastic than the original proposal by Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio).

Livingston also said he opposed allowing Red China to enter the United Nations on the grounds such a step would be "permitting a nation to shoot its way into the U. N."

Candidate Edward A. Hayes said that "small business—this nation's biggest business—should be encouraged instead of hampered by federal taxation and red tape which was saddled upon it by the New Deal."

Meek Claims Increase in Support
Julius Klein announced that a recording made by Merrill C. Meigs, publisher of the Chicago American, a Hearst newspaper, would be played downstate. Meigs has personally endorsed Klein's candidacy.

In the recording Meigs said he was "happy to be supporting for senator a man who learned his politics from Senator Taft and his fighting from Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

Joseph T. Meek claimed he had "materially increased" his lead in Chicago and downstate over the position he held a week ago.

Meek said voters were beginning to "carefully sift" their choice from among the bulky field of nine GOP aspirants.

Voters, Meek said, have begun clearly to see the necessity of beating the Democratic incumbent, Sen. Paul H. Douglas.

Cousin of Mrs.
C. W. Whitley Dies

Mrs. M. H. Osburn, cousin of Mrs. C. W. Whitley, Harrisburg, died Sunday morning in Chaffee, Mo. She was also the cousin of Hal Webber, Stonefort, and Mrs. Pearl Norman, Washington, D. C. The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in Missouri.

Dies Near Shawneetown

Mrs. Artie M. Owens, 80, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Kinder, near Shawneetown, last night.

The body will be returned from the Wright funeral home to the residence today. The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Emmanuel Methodist church in Shawneetown. Rev. Perry Williams and Rev. Edward Miner will conduct the service, and burial will be in the Westwood cemetery.

Urbana Couple,
Pana Man are Killed in Crash

SEYMOUR, Ill. (U)—Three persons were killed and two injured, one critically, in a collision early today on Ill. 10 near here.

James P. Tolbert, 39, and his wife Anna, 39, of Urbana; and Jesse Rowley, 23, Pana, were killed instantly.

The Tolberts' daughter, Mary Lou, 20, was in critical condition at Burnham hospital, Champaign. She suffered head and chest injuries. Donald Weeks, 20, Urbana, was hospitalized but was not in serious condition.

Tolbert's westbound car crashed into Rowley, who was going east, when Tolbert tried to pass a car, driven by George A. Clark, 27, Decatur. Rowley, driving alone, tried to swerve into a ditch but was sideswiped by the Tolbert car.

Clark and a passenger, Patricia Dillman, Decatur, were not injured.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Martin funeral home, and burial will be in the Hazel Ridge cemetery in White County.

No Contests in Three School
Board Elections

There will be no contests in the three Harrisburg school board elections to be held Saturday, April 10, it was revealed today following the deadline for filing.

There will be two running for two posts on each of the Harrisburg Township high school, the Harrisburg City schools and the Dorrisville school boards of education.

And of the six, five will be running for re-election, the sixth being Lloyd L. Parker of the high school board, who is retiring after 21 years of service. Dr. William J. Blackard is running for this vacancy.

The last day for filing was Saturday, and it was learned that the following had filed:

High school board: Bert Gaskins and Dr. William J. Blackard.

City school board: L. N. Davenport and Bruce Polk.

Dorrisville school board: Carl Mills and Louie Coget.

Britain Agrees To Forces in European Army

PARIS (U)—Great Britain has agreed—in a final concession to France—that British air and ground forces will serve alongside the proposed six-nation West European army, it was learned today.

Britain's offer is an all-out effort to speed French ratification of the European Defense Community pact against communism.

Britain would earmark an undisclosed number of royal air force squadrons and British infantry divisions to work as one with the six-nation army, informants said.

The British forces could be put under the command of an EDC general or a British general could be put in command of EDC forces, it was understood.

What is hailed as a "startling" and "revolutionary" British decision was formally transmitted to the six EDC nations late last week.

Informants said the British offer of close association with the West European army was made after long consultation with the United States.

Official American sources said that a United States declaration of close association with the West European army now awaits President Eisenhower's approval.

The British and American moves are being made in an attempt to get French Premier Joseph Laniel to put the European Defense Community pact before the French parliament for ratification.

Mrs. Jennie Moore
Dies at Eldorado

Mrs. Jennie C. Moore, 75, Eldorado RD 1, died last night at 11:15 at the Ferrell hospital in Eldorado. The body now lies in state at the Martin funeral home.

She is survived by the following children: Ira Williams, Eldorado; John H. Moore, Alton; Mrs. Elmer Crawford, Mt. Pulaski; Mrs. Carl Lethem, Alton; Mrs. Elmer Leasage, Kankakee; 9 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Martin funeral home, and burial will be in the Hazel Ridge cemetery in White County.

Salesman Loses
$200,000 Gems
To Train RobberIs Shot in Foot
By Gunman in
Wabash Dining Car

CENTRALIA, Mo. (U)—Officers today believed a robber who got $200,000 in gems in a startling holdup aboard a speeding Wabash Railroad train had escaped from this area.

Only a meager description was available of the man who held up and wounded John Gray, 55, a New York diamond importer and salesman, as he sat in the club-diner of the Wabash Railroad's No. 12 from Kansas City to St. Louis Saturday night.

Gray, who was reported in good condition at a Mexico, Mo., hospital, was shot in the right foot. He said the man suddenly confronted him with a gun. Gray said he thought the weapon was a "toy pistol."

Gray said the robber fired one shot and missed, then began hitting him with a magazine. The man fired again, wounding him, Gray said.

The bandit seized Gray's brief case and fled as the train halted at the station here.

George P. Lennertson, dining car steward, said the robber wore a checkered topcoat and was of medium build.

Entered Auto

Phillip M. Bloom, representative of the Veterans Administration at St. Louis, said he sat across the aisle from Gray and he said Gray shouted, "No, it's mine," as the bandit seized his brief case.

After the bandit alighted from the train, a Centralia resident, Walter Wilkerson, saw him enter a brown, late model Pontiac car in which a woman driver waited. Wilkerson believed the car bore an out-of-state license beginning AG-73 or 78.

Other witnesses thought it was a Kansas license plate.

Gray, and presumably the robber, boarded the train at Kansas City, Mo.

Gray said the diamonds were contained in four wallets and an envelope in the brief case, along with about $4,200 in cash.

He is a salesman and partner in the firm of Adolph Adler, diamond cutters and importers.

A state highway patrol spokesman said, "we are trying to follow a cold trail or no trail at all," and added officers were looking for "professionals who planned very carefully."

Explosion Rocks
Mine Near Canton;
2 Killed, 3 Hurt

CANTON, Ill. (U)—An explosion rocked a strip mine near here today, killing two miners and injuring three others.

The blast occurred at the Morgan Bryant coal mine, about mid-way between here and Lewistown, at about 7:45 a. m.

Sheriff John B. Anderson said that two miners were killed and three others were hospitalized with injuries.

Anderson identified the dead as Earl Cape, 60, Bryant, and Ronnie Miles, 35, Lewistown.

Those reported injured were Arthur Miles, father of Ronnie; Bill Saults, Lewistown, about 55, and Duane Byers, Lewistown.

State Mine Investigator James I. Jayne, Cuba, said a box of dynamite blew up at the mine.

The mine is a small strip-mining operation at Bryant, a Fulton County village of 400 about 10 miles southwest of here.

Rats Cause Famine
In Philippine Town

LAMBAYANG, P. I. (U)—Mayor Jose Guerrero frantically pleaded today for an "army" of rat fighters to help rid his town of a famine that is killing three to five citizens daily.

"Last year we had four or five deaths a year from disease," Guerrero said. "This year we have three to five a day. Three funerals were by the house yesterday."

Guerrero said the rats destroyed the area's rice crop last fall, causing a famine.

Mrs. Virginia Jackson Wheeler, 19, wife of George Wheeler and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Jackson, Rosiclare, died in a Springfield hospital Sunday evening with complications following surgery.

The body is being returned to Rosiclare late tonight where it will be received by the Hosick funeral home. No plans have been made.

Eisenhower Tells White House Visitors He Does
Not Choose to Run in 1956By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower has been telling White House visitors that one term is enough, that he does not choose to run in 1956.

The famous Eisenhower grin disappears when the subject of another term comes up. A deadly serious President explains that he would be 70 years old at the end of a second term, and that he does not intend to carry the burdens of office into those latter years.

It is fair to say that Republican politicians generally are unimpressed by Mr. Eisenhower's midterm disavowal of second term plans. Some of them have heard it before from other presidents. Few would doubt Mr. Eisenhower's sincerity. But they don't believe he can make it stick — nor that he really will feel that way in the spring of 1956 when he surveys the accomplishments and failures of a first term.

Will Face Pressure to Run

Several top-level Republicans have publicly predicted that Mr. Eisenhower would seek and win a second term. Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., (R-Mass.) said as much during a recent visit to his home state. Martin and others apparently are convinced that Mr. Eisenhower is the best draw the party possesses. The pressure on him to run will be terrific.

Some political realists suggest that Mr. Eisenhower overlooks a vital fact in seeking to take himself out of the presidential picture at this time. If he actually persuaded Republicans that he would not run again Mr. Eisenhower's powers of leadership would diminish considerably. A president definitely on the way out is not in a position much to reward or to punish the party faithful.

It is the custom of presidents toward the end of a term to begin to feel that no other individual can perfect and complete the unfinished business which always accumulates during four years at the White House. A president in such a state of mind is likely to listen when the party leaders urge him to make the race again so that his program can be completed.

Chiang Kai-Shek
Wins Re-Election
For 6-Year Term

TAIPEH, Formosa (U)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek won reelection to another six-year term as president today by an almost unanimous vote of the National Assembly.

Chiang received 1,507 votes on the second ballot. When the results were announced, millions of fireworks were set off in Formosa and messages of congratulations began pouring in.

Chiang's only opponent, Hsu Fu Lin of the Democratic Socialist Party, received only 48 votes.

The opposition gave Hsu 72 votes in the first balloting Saturday, enough to prevent Chiang from winning at the start. The unexpected opposition also caused celebrations scheduled for Saturday night to be postponed.

A week end of conferences brought many of the delegates from Chiang's party, the Kuomintang, back into line and the generalissimo won easily.

Leader Since 1927
In statements to his army recently Chiang said that 1954 would be a fateful year, intimating that his trained army could not wait beyond December to attack the Chinese Communists.

Chiang first was elected to head the Kuomintang government on the mainland in 1927. Although retirement for political reasons occasionally has interrupted his rule, he has been the uncontested leader of the Nationalists since that time.

Chiang crushed the Chinese warlords in the 1920s in his famed northern expedition and unified China for the first time in its history.

Brushy township neighbors and relatives of Austin Moore, who is in the Veterans hospital at Marion, joined together to finish his plowing last week. There were 12 tractors and the plowing was completed in one day.

The following took part in the "good neighbor" effort: Furman Fife, Jess Hankins, H. Boatright, Dan Davis Jr., Homer Young, Everett Evans, Harry Evans, Lowell Evans, Darrell Evans, Jesse Ellis, J. T. Moore, Dale Clark and Carl Moore.

Expected to Ask for More
American PlanesFrance Wants
Bombers, Transports
And Helicopters

WASHINGTON (U)—France's top general conferred today with President Eisenhower and Adm. Arthur W. Radford on the broad aspects of increasing aid to the beleaguered French force in Indochina.

Gen. Paul Ely, French chief of staff, declined to discuss with reporters any specific aspects of the conversation but it was widely reported he wants more American planes, particularly B26 bombers, C119 transports, and helicopters.

Ely, speaking through an interpreter, pictured the White House meeting as a broad discussion of Indochina. He said "United States aid to Indochina is a matter so continuing and so daily that it is more a matter of detail than one for the President."

Confident of Victory

As the conferences got underway, both American and French officials emphasized there is "nothing to be alarmed about" and that they are actually "optimistic about the military situation in Indochina."

On his arrival here Saturday, Ely expressed "great confidence" about a French victory in the current crucial battle at Dien Bien Phu. And a State Department official said today's meetings were not prompted by any "crisis."

Nevertheless, behind the scenes there was a great deal of official concern about the current events in Indochina and the grave repercussions they could have on the European army plan, the forthcoming Geneva peace conference and indeed, the whole Western alliance.

U. S. Pays Most of Bill

Although U. S. officials believe the French are in no danger of being defeated in the field, they feel that new Communist victories at this time would spread new gloom and pessimism through France.

In the opinion of these experts, such a development could threaten the chance of France ratifying the long-stalled European army plan, stimulate its desire to make a deal with Red China at Geneva, and even spur the movement in some French circles to get out of the war altogether.

The United States is paying most of the bill for the Indochina fight. President Eisenhower told a news conference earlier this month that this country would not get directly involved without a congressional declaration of war. But short of this, the United States has been doing everything possible to keep the French fighting and the Reds at bay.

Fined $200 and costs on a charge of driving while intoxicated was Bernard Lee Patterson, Harrisburg, arrested over the week-end by state police.

Invalid is Trapped
And Burned to Death

CHAMPAIGN (U)—The first time in 15 years that an elderly invalid was left alone, he was trapped and burned to death by fire in the living room of his home Sunday.

The victim, Dr. C. E. Comer, 70, a retired dentist, was confined to a wheel chair. Two roomers in his home tried to reach him from the second floor when they heard his cries for help, but flames drove them back.

Comer's wife said she had never left her husband alone for 15 years, but broke her rule to go driving with their daughter Sunday.

THE YOUNG WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF SALINE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION met at the Ingram Hill Baptist church, March 16, for the annual banquet with the above group present. The banquet was well attended by 50 Y. W. A.'s and counselors. Miss Wanda Pyles, associational Y. W. A. president, presided over the program and a hymn of grace preceded the delicious meal. Mrs. Lois Wesley Hammond, associational Young People's leader, on behalf of the Y. W. A.'s, presented a corsage of red roses to Miss Marylea Henderson, State Young People's secretary, who was guest speaker. Following the devotion by Mrs. Paul Hays, associational W. M. U. president, Mrs. Veneta Brown and Mrs. Grace Whitlock sang a duet. Along with her message, Miss Henderson showed slides which she had made last summer in Brazil and on a recent trip to an Indian reservation in Arizona. (Foster Studio Photo)

DREW PEARSON Says:
Ike's McCarthy Expert Has Family Troubles Over McCarthy; Democrats Have Difficulty Finding Out Who Wrote Tax Bill; Temperamental Air
Secretary Feuds With Congress.

WASHINGTON. — The man upon whom the White House is relying for advice on the prickly, unpredictable senator from Wisconsin is a handsome, mild-mannered young legal disciple of Governor Dewey—William P. Rogers, deputy attorney general.

Rogers first got to know McCarthy when Joe was a very junior member of the Senate Investigations Committee back in 1949 and when Rogers was counsel for that committee. The Democrats were in command then, but they retained the able Mr. Rogers even though he was a Dewey Republican, and even though Truman had just defeated Dewey.

During the 1952 campaign Rogers became a close friend of Senator Nixon, traveled with him, and gradually became Eisenhower's
No. 1 executive in charge of the Joe McCarthy problems. To that end it was Rogers who went to Miami with Nixon last Christmas to persuade Joe to lay off the Eisenhower administration and attack only hangover Truman scandals.
The agreement was honored for only a few weeks.

Meanwhile, Joe McCarthy is not merely causing Ike trouble, he is causing trouble for Mr. Rogers right in his own home.

The Rogers children, of whom he can justly be proud, attend the Friends school, as do also the Brownell children. And after Attorney General Brownell castigated Truman re Harry Dexter White in a political speech at the school, the student body demanded that they hear the other side.

Among those who wanted to hear both sides was alert, lovely Mary Rogers, president of Current Events, whose father is the No. 1 deputy to Attorney General Brownell.

The man picked to answer
Brownell was none other than Michael Straight, editor and publisher of the anti-McCarthy liberal New Republic.

After Straight spoke, several students congratulated him, among them Mary Rogers. She explained that she was a Republican and loyal to her father, but she was troubled by the issue of McCarthy-ism. It was almost disrupting the Rogers' home.

"That man," she said, referring to the senator from Wisconsin,
"comes to our house and spends hours with daddy."

BIG TAX ADVISERS
One amazing thing about the current 875-page proposed new tax bill is that Ways and Means committeemen—outside Chairman Dan Reed—have not known who the big business experts were who worked on it. It has not been unusual to have big business experts work on tax bills in the past. Their advice, as well as that of labor and consumer groups, was always welcomed. But the advice was always given in public sessions so that everyone knew about it.

This time it was given secretly, and Democratic members of the Ways and Means committee hitherto have not been able to ascertain who they were.

However they have just discovered that the Jones-Laughlin Steel company and Westinghouse were on the committee which wrote the corporate reorganization sections of the tax bill. They have also ascertained that Bethlehem Steel and General Foods helped write the pensions section which reinstate the provisions of 12 years ago whereby only top executives of a corporation can have tax-free funds set aside for pensions. Small-scale employees cannot benefit.

Congressmen also learned that Standard Oil of New Jersey helped write the section on consolidated tax returns.

MCCARTHY'S GO-ROUND
Roy Cohn's family is not unacquainted with the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. His grandfather was mixed up in the Bank of the United States scandal.

When Roy Cohn joined the York National Guard a friend asked him why. "To get out of the draft," replied Mr. Cohn, who can be very frank. "What makes you think that will get you out?" asked the friend. "I'm going to be in the Selective Service office of the National Guard," was Roy's reply. Cohn took his exam to enter the National Guard in 1950,

the year the Korean war started.
While working in Washington,
Cohn managed to get a special dispensation from the Washington District of Columbia guard to drill with them. In the past this has almost never been given. Juiciest portions of the Army report on Cohn-McCarthy-Schine et al were omitted. The original report was about twice as long as that the Army made public.

CAPITOL NEWS CAPSULES
Temperamental Talbott — Air
Secretary Talbott almost spilled his breakfast coffee when he read the recent Washington Merry-Go-Round account of the closed-door congressional dressing-down given him by Congressmen Harry Sheppard of California and George Mahon of Texas. One of their colleagues, Congressman Clair Engle of California, an Air Force reservist, was all set to patch up congressional differences with the temperamental Mr. Talbott, but got a phone call from the Pentagon that things were still too hot to smoke the peace pipe.

Butler Won't Budge — Sen. John Butler of Maryland is a man who,
when he has convictions, has 'em.
And not even the White House can budge him. Butler felt strongly about the Bricker amendment, resented the expert lobbying job performed by White House minions in persuading various senators to switch their votes. So, when the same minions argued with him for 45 minutes not to tie the Alaskan statehood to Hawaii, Butler refused to budge. He voted that statehood for both should go hand-in-hand.

No One Wants Rubber — Two cabinet officers are squabbling over who should take over the South American rubber program.
Foreign-Aid Boss Harold Stassen has been trying to develop a strategic natural rubber industry in Latin America to prepare for possible loss of southeast Asia to the Reds. His agency however is now going out of business. Secretary of Commerce Weeks thinks the Agriculture Department should take over the rubber program. But Secretary of Agriculture Benson insists it should go to the Commerce Department. Reason for the after-you-Alphonse attitude is that whoever gets the rubber program will have to dip into his budget to pay for it.

Farmers May Use
Wheat Acreage
For Other Purposes

Wheat farmers are now authorized to use a part of their wheat acreage for green manure, cover crop, hay, pasture or silage. This announcement was issued today by Edgar V. Thompson, office manager of the local ASC office. This means that farmers who have planted too much wheat can still avoid marketing quota penalties or loss of price support eligibility, or both, by plowing under a part of their seeded wheat acreage, by pasturing it off, or by cutting it for hay or silage, provided this utilization takes place while the wheat is still green, and provided such action is completed prior to May 15, 1954.

"Any farmer," continued Mr.
Thompson, "who desires to take advantage of this provision should immediately call at the county office and indicate the acreage which he desires to use for these purposes. Any seeded acreage of wheat properly used, for any of these authorized purposes will not be classified as wheat and, therefore, will not count against the allotment."

Under current regulations, marketing quota penalties are imposed on all farms where the acreage classified as wheat is in excess of the allotment, provided such acreage is above 15 acres. There are no marketing quota penalties where the acreage of wheat is 15 acres or less. Price support, on the other hand, cannot be obtained for the wheat on any farm on which the acreage is in excess of the allotment for the farm.

Immunization Clinics in Schools Will Begin April 5

The regular spring clinics to provide immunization, both initial and maintenance programs for typhoid and smallpox will begin Monday, April 5.

Active immunization against typhoid is accomplished by administering three doses of typhoid vaccine at regular intervals, followed by a booster yearly. Typhoid germs spread from patient or carrier to a well person through direct or indirect contact. Water is an important agent in the spreading of typhoid against which adults and children in this area need to be protected.

The ideal time to have a child vaccinated against smallpox is between three and six months of age according to the State Department of public health with a repeat vaccination every three years.

Local doctors will administer the smallpox and typhoid vaccines. A fee of 25 cents is charged for each dose of vaccine, however, if you are unable to meet the need you may write a note of explanation to your child's teacher and he will be included in the program.

The schedule for the typhoid immunization is as follows: All clinics at 1 p. m. on the day indicated:
Monday, April 5, McKinley, first and booster doses; Tuesday, April 6, Horace Mann, first and booster doses; Wednesday, April 7, Junior high, first and booster doses;
Friday, April 9, Logan and Dorris Heights at Logan, first and booster doses; Monday, April 12, Bayliss, Liberty and Lincoln at Bayliss,
first and booster doses; Tuesday,
April 13, Dorrisville, first and booster doses; Tuesday, April 20, all schools at McKinley, second dose of vaccine; Tuesday, April 27, all schools at McKinley, third dose of vaccine.

Booster doses or any one of series doses may be picked up at the April 20 or April 27 clinics by those who unavoidably missed the regular schedule.

New MIRACLE COMPOUND
ICA
IGNITION CONTROL ADDITIVE
IN NEW Ashland ETHYL

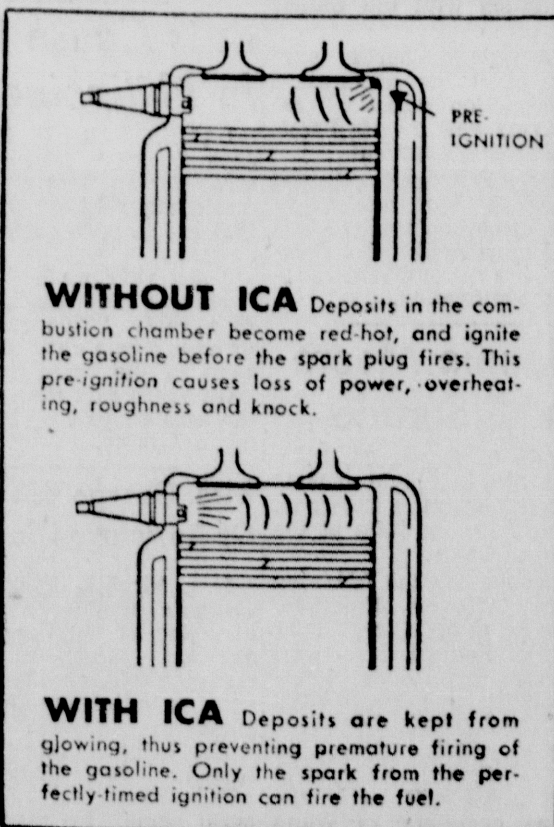

WITHOUT ICA

Deposits foul spark plug and current that should fire the spark plug leaks away and the plug misfires.

WITH ICA

Plug deposits are converted into non-conductors of electricity, eliminating the leakage that causes plugs to misfire. Spark plug life is extended as much as 500 per cent in some cars.

WITHOUT ICA Deposits in the combustion chamber become red-hot, and ignite the gasoline before the spark plug fires. This pre-ignition causes loss of power, overheating, roughness and knock.

WITH ICA Deposits are kept from glowing, thus preventing premature firing of the gasoline. Only the spark from the perfectly-timed ignition can fire the fuel.

ICA -- a patented Ignition Control Additive -- reduces spark plug fouling and controls pre-ignition

After years of research ICA was chosen as the best of more than 200 different compounds to control ignition in the engines of automobiles.

Over 117,000 hours in laboratory tests and more than 2,000,000 miles of severe test driving proved the superiority of ICA in preventing spark plug fouling and pre-ignition.

New cars and old cars can suffer from power loss, knock and rough engine performance caused by fouled plugs and pre-ignition.
ICA retains new car performance in new cars and restores new car performance to older models.

Road-test sensational new Ashland Ethyl with ICA in your own car. You will feel the difference in one to three tanks full, depending on the condition of your car. Have your friendly Ashland Oil dealer fill your tank with greater-than-ever Ashland Ethyl with miracle ICA.

Tuberculosis Deaths Decline in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Tuberculosis deaths in Illinois declined sharply last year, the State Public Health Department said today.

A total of 1,210 deaths was reported, a 21 per cent drop from the 1,547 deaths in 1952.

The 1953 death rate per 100,000 population was 13.4. This compares with 18.7 in 1952, 21.5 in 1951, and 25.4 in 1950.

There was a marked difference in the 1953 tuberculosis death rate in Chicago and in downstate Illinois. In Chicago, it was 21.4 per 100,000 population; downstate, it was 7.8.

Only 50 of the persons who died of tuberculosis in Illinois last year were under 20 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse A. Chastain Installed To Office by Egyptian Shrine

In a most lovely and impressive ceremony Saturday evening, March 20, Mrs. Orabelle Chastain was installed as worthy high priestess of Egyptian Shrine No. 56, of the Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem. The public installation service took place at 8 p. m. in the Masonic temple. Jesse A. Chastain was installed as watchman of shepherds.

For the occasion the hall was beautifully decorated with bouquets of yellow daffodils, tulips and forsythia. The chairs, draped in white, were placed to form a large cross in the center of the room and a lighted cross stood at the west of the chapter room.

Preceding the ceremony four candle lighters, Lyna May Bassier, Linda Kay Hendrix, Judy Gibbs and Suzanne Hays, with tall white tapers, lighted 28 white candles in wrought iron candelabra at the east of the room. With the lights dimmed, Irene Shaw, assisted by five other altar attendants, Helen Williams, Daisy Benton, Edna Rodgers, Florence Felts and Gladys Phillips, carried in a white Bible and laid it on an altar covered with white satin, while Arlene Bean and Dean Tanner sang "The Holy City."

The retiring officers, Beatrice Rockwell, worthy high priestess, and Lendall Rockwell, watchman of shepherds, then took their places on the dais. Mrs. Rockwell asked that all worthy high priestesses and watchmen of shepherds and all past worthy high priestesses and past watchmen of shepherds to stand and be introduced.

After Mrs. Rockwell's welcoming speech the inviting herald, Cora Prout, presented the installing officers: Vivian M. Parrish, P. S. W. H. P., installing officer, Murphysboro; Elizabeth Eichelman, P. S. W. H. P., installing herald, Herrin; Mary Hunter, P. W. H. P., installing scribe, Benton; Besse Jane Hunter, P. W. H. P., installing scribe, Eldorado; Faye Baldwin, P. W. H. P. and D. D., installing organist, Murphysboro; and Mary Richardson, P. W. H. P., installing guardian, Harrisburg, who were escorted in by Frank Parrish, Don Endicott, Walter Phillips, Harry Hunter, Lesie Baldwin and Walter Unsell.

The officers elect were then ushered into the room and seated in the chairs forming a cross. The American flag was brought in and Jane Endicott gave the ode to the flag.

The installing scribe, Besse Jane Hunter, Eldorado, called the names of the officers elect who stood to be introduced, and the worthy herald ushered each officer elect to the altar for their charge of office which was given by the installing officer, Mrs. Vivian Parrish.

After Mr. and Mrs. Chastain had been installed as watchman of shepherds and worthy high priestess, respectively, Arlene Bean and Dean Tanner, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Baldwin, sang "My Best to You." Escort to the worthy high priestess was little Jon Thompson and to the watchman of shepherds, little Bobby Thompson. Mrs. Chastain carried a lovely bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

After each of Mrs. Chastain's officers had taken the pledge of office, Mrs. Rockwell, retiring worthy high priestess was presented a Shrine emblematic ring with seven diamonds from the Shrine, her husband, and her son, Glendal, by Jane Endicott, and Mr. Rockwell was presented with a past watchman of shepherd's pin from Don Endicott.

Following short talks by the officers, the ceremony was closed with the singing of the benediction, "My Evening Prayer," by Arlene Bean and Dean Tanner.

Ushers for the occasion were Hazel June Rice and Judy Latham. Malcolm Axton served as color bearer, and David Causey and Hubert Axton Jr., as escorts.

The reception committee consisted of Jane Endicott, and Iva Groce; and registration, Mollie Wilson.

Mrs. C. L. Travis had as guest over the week end her cousin, Miss Helen Langston, from Colorado Springs, Colo.

To Build New Cellophane Plant On Wabash River

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP)—John M. Olin, president of Olin Industries Inc., today announced plans for the building of a new cellophane plant on the Wabash River at Kern, Ind., between Covington, Ind., and Danville, Ill.

Olin estimated the new plant would double his company's production of cellophane. Olin now manufactures cellophane at Pisgah Forest, N. C.

The Kern plant was expected to employ about 600 persons. It will be designed and constructed by E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co. under the terms of a November, 1949, contract, whereby Olin purchased the right to use du Pont cellophane patents and technical information and secured du Pont's agreement to design and construct two cellophane plants.

The second plant will be located in California.

The company said ground for the Wabash River plant will be broken "in the near future."

Spahn Displays Midseason Form for Braves

By United Press
Spring training games don't amount to a row of grapefruit seeds, but you can't convince Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, who displays the same bear-down brilliance whether he's pitching for money or marbles.

Spahn, a 23-game winner with the Braves last season, exhibited mid-season steam at Bradenton, Fla., Sunday as he baffled the Phillies batters and hurled seven scoreless innings in his team's 10-0 triumph.

The veteran lefthander, first Milwaukee pitcher to go seven innings this spring, yielded only four singles in throttling Philadelphia. Jim Wilson relieved Spahn in the eighth and didn't allow a Phillie batter to reach base.

Cardinals Lose, 3-2
Like the Phillies, the Red Sox didn't collect many hits, either, but they put their safeties to better purpose. Limited to two hits by Gerry Staley and Tom Poholsky, the Red Sox took advantage of four walks, an error, a passed ball and a wild pitch to score two runs in the eighth and nip the Cardinals, 3-2. Rookie Tom Alston collected two of the six hits off Red Sox pitchers Leo Kili and Truman Clevenger, including a home run.

The Yankees snapped their seven-game losing streak as Harry Byrd and Tom Morgan pitched them to an 8-2 triumph over Brooklyn. It marked the Dodgers' first loss in 12 games and Yogi Berra was the chief culprit with a homer and two singles.

There was some bad news for the Yankees, too, however. Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Md., examined Mickey Mantle's mending right knee and told Yankee officials that the young outfielder definitely would not be ready for the season opener, April 13.

A's Win Ninth Game
Eddie Joost's surprising Athletics scored their ninth exhibition victory in 11 games by defeating Pittsburgh, 7-5, at West Palm Beach, Fla., despite Pirate homers by Frank Thomas and George Reese.

A walk to Clyde Vollmer with the bases full in the ninth inning gave Washington a 10-9 decision over Detroit.

Cincinnati pounded Virgil Trucks hard in the early innings to gain a 5-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox at Tampa, Fla., while at Los Angeles, the Giants defeated Cleveland, 9-1, thanks to the fine pitching of Jim Hearn and Roger Gomez and home runs by Foster Castellan and Hank Thompson.

At Yuma, Ariz., Frank Baumholtz collected five-for-five to pace the Cubs to a 8-2 conquest over Baltimore.

WHO'S ON TOP?—Antonino Rocca seems to have Verne Gagne set up for some sort of a flip, but the Minnesota grappler begins to wrap a scissor around the Argentine Barefoot Boy's neck. Match ended the same way—a draw. (NEA)

A baseball player nowadays has got to be built like a football player before the scouts are interested in him. Gerry Coleman's return isn't the only reason the Yanks aren't brooding over Billy Martin's induction. Dr. Bobby Brown, now in Tokyo, is a strong bet to rejoin the champs in June.

Furman's Frank Selvy, the outstanding baseball senior of the year, will wind up the property of Baltimore in the NBA draft. Suffering from an asthmatic condition last summer, Ralph Kiner was sent to a Pittsburgh specialist. The doctor, who wasn't apprised of his patient's identity, put Kiner through a series of allergy tests. "Young man," began the diagnosis to the famed slugger, "you're allergic to grass. I recommend you get a job in an air-conditioned office!"

Hind-sight look at Terry Brennan's Notre Dame appointment: it was the Rev. T. M. Heshburgh, 36-year-old president of the university, and not Frank Leahy (although he was consulted), who brought Brennan back to N. D. from Mt. Carmel High as Irish coach.

There was a significant quote by Washington skipper Buckey Harris when asked if pitcher Harry Byrd will help the Yanks. "Brawn," he said, "is no substitute for brains." New pitching coach Ted Lyons of the Dodgers has been in the majors for 33 years without being on a pennant winner—and in fact was in baseball from 1923 to 1950 before landing with a second-place team—as a coach for Detroit the latter season.

Who has to join the Navy? Wrestler Vern Gagne travels more than 150,000 miles a year to fulfill his mat engagements.

The next big sale from the Coast League, since Tom Alston's $100,000 grab by the Cards, will be another first-sacker—either young Jimmy Westlake (brother of Walby), rejoining San Francisco from the Coast Guard, or Jim Marshall of Oakland. A note from the Coast says Charley Drensen goes in for hand manures... but neglects to mention whether he's resumed his passion for post-game garlic sandwiches.

There's a reason (besides creaking bones) TV wit Steve Allen would rather watch than play basketball. The last time he was a participant, in a Chicago grammar school contest, he swished a perfect field goal—into the other team's basket.

Coach Dukey Moore of Duquesne is being pushed for the Michigan State basketball coaching job left vacant by Pete Newell... which, if he gets it, would be ironic, since Dukey talked ace Duke sophomore Si Green out of switching to Michigan State after moody Si spent his 1952 Christmas vacation on the Spartan campus.

Don Richards is Rams' Big Hero in 76 to 70 Victory for State Title

CHAMPAIGN — Don Richards, an unsung guard, was the big hero today in dark horse Mount Vernon's uphill 76-70 victory over DuSable in the Illinois prep basketball finals.

Clever Paxton Lumpkin, guard and captain for runnerup DuSable, grabbed the "most valuable player" award for the four-day tourney. And Al Avant, uncanny Mount Vernon shooter, outshone his teammates to rate as one of Sweet Sixteen's best.

But it was Richards, a bespectacled 6-foot 1-inch senior, who came through in the clutch Saturday night with the points that decided who was to win the coveted first-place trophy.

It was one of the great title games in the 47-year series. Neither team could gain a commanding lead, and the score was knotted up no less than 12 times.

Breaks Final Tie
The last tie came with 1 minute and 48 seconds left to play, when Lumpkin fouled Mount Vernon's Goff Thompson—Lumpkin's fourth foul. Thompson made one of his two shots and it was 70-70.

Then at 1:19 Richards got the ball and sailed up with a 15-foot jump shot that swished through the net to give Mount Vernon a 72-70 lead.

DuSable lost the ball for traveling, and Mount Vernon stalled. Richards was fouled by Lumpkin with 11 seconds left and made both of his shots. That was the ball game.

With one second left Thompson dumped in two more free throws and the final score was 76-70.

Richards wound up with 25 points, his highest score of the tournament, to top both teams in the scoring department. He made nine out of 19 field goal shots and seven out of eight free throws.

Best Pinckneyville, 70-44
Mount Vernon was given only an outside chance of becoming the new champ when the tourney opened. But the Rams downed DuSable 61-54 in the opener, ousted Moline 73-59 in the quarter-finals, and then stunned Pinckneyville 70-44 in the semifinal game.

Mount Vernon shot 489 from the field in giving Pinckneyville its worst losing in years. Center Gene Pursell made 17 points for the

All-Tournament Team Named by United Press
CHAMPAIGN — DuSable and Edwardsville each landed two players on the first squad of the Illinois prep basketball finals all-tournament team announced by United Press.

Sweet Charlie Brown, DuSable, and Bob Gregor, Edwardsville, are the forwards. At guards are Paxton Lumpkin, DuSable, and Don Ohl, Edwardsville, and at center is Gene Pursell, Pinckneyville.

Shellie McMillon, DuSable, won center position on the second team. Tom Payne, Quincy, and Whitey Verstraete, Moline, were placed at forwards, and Al Avant, Mount Vernon, and Roy Dewitz, Barrington, at guards.

Coaches of semifinal teams selected the U. P. team.

LaSalle, Winner of NCAA Tourney, Sets Five Records; Will Be Team to Beat in '55
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — LaSalle's Explorers, who placed two men on the all-tournament team, set five of 12 new records and tied another in winning the 1954 NCAA basketball championship, looked today like a team to beat in 1955.

Among the eight men whose court play won the NCAA crown for the Philadelphia entry, only one will graduate this year, three-letter senior guard Frank O'Hara.

The other is one-man destroyer Tom Gola, an All-American junior whose performances against both Penn State and Bradley in last weekend's championship tournament kept sell-out crowds on their feet.

Beat Bradley, 92-76
"It looks like it's going to be some time before LaSalle is knocked off its perch," one opposing coach conceded ruefully today. "This has been a wonderful year (LaSalle's record was 26-4) for us," said LaSalle Coach Kenny Loeffler, "and this has been a wonderful trip to Kansas City. I hope we can come again—soon."

Gola was the only unanimous selection for the all-tournament team

Mt. Vernon Fans Go All-Out to Welcome Rams

10,000 Greet State Prep Champions On Return from Tourney
MOUNT VERNON, Ill. — Residents of this basketball hotbed were getting back to normal today after going all-out to welcome home the state high school basketball champions.

Crowds estimated at up to 10,000 persons Sunday greeted the prep kings, who set an all-time record by winning their fourth title in Champaign Saturday night with an uphill 76-70 win over Chicago's DuSable.

The downcast DuSable team narrowly escaped serious injury when their bus was hit by an automobile and forced off the road near Ashkum.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Cohen, both about 50, of St. Paul, Minn., the occupants of the car, were reported in serious condition at a Clifton hospital.

Cheering Mount Vernon fans began meeting the team as far away as Salem, 22 miles north of here, Sunday. The official motorcade was waiting at Dix where the players, coaches and cheerleaders transferred to open convertibles for a noisy final eight-mile ride home.

Pays Tribute To Team
Cars were lined up about three-quarters of a mile outside the city limits, waiting for the cavalcade and to join in the procession which circled about 10 city blocks before ending at the high school where welcoming ceremonies were held.

About 2,500 fans jammed into the gym to hear Dr. Andrew Hall, 89-year-old basketball fan who saw Mount Vernon win state titles in 1920, 1949, 1950 and 1954, pay tribute to the team.

"Dr. Andy," as he is known, said he wanted "to pay tribute and extend our gratitude for the honor you and won for yourselves, the city of Mt. Vernon and your school."

Hall also said he was sure there was "wailing, weeping and gnashing of teeth" in Pinckneyville, a Southern Illinois basketball rival of Mount Vernon, whose team ended in third place after losing to the Rams in the semifinals.

Coach Harold Hutchins said his team was "a great bunch and really tried." He introduced the players.

Karl Marx was a German by birth, a Jew by extraction, and a Protestant by faith.

Four Saline County Players Mentioned On All State Team
The Chicago Daily News' annual All-State basketball team was announced Saturday and one Saline county player was in the special mention group and three from the county received honorable mention.

Ron Culbreth, Carrier Mills captain, rated special mention as a guard.

Ronnie Riegel, Harrisburg guard, was in the honorable mention group as were Oliver Rollins, Carrier Mills, and Paul Mackovjak, Eldorado. Both are centers.

The first all-state team as picked by the Daily News, was an all-senior five. The team: Archie Dees, forward, 6-8, Mt. Carmel; Tom Payne, forward, 6-6, Quincy; Ted Caiazza, center, 6-7, LaGrange; Paxton Lumpkin, guard, 6-0, DuSable and Ron Pursell, guard, 6-3, Litchfield.

Gene Pursell, Pinckneyville and Bobby Joe Mason, Centralia, were on the second team and Al Avant, Mt. Vernon and Don Ohl, Edwardsville, were members of the third team.

Two Churchmen Are Critical of McCarthy Methods

NEW YORK (AP)—Two leading Episcopal churchmen denounced Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy from pulpits in New York and Washington Sunday, calling his methods "grave abuses" and "McCarthyism," "another of the devil's disguises."

The Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Washington Cathedral exchanged pulpits with the Very Rev. Dr. James A. Pike, dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine here as part of their joint plan to preach against McCarthy.

Dean Sayre, speaking at the New York church, said the method of McCarthy is "diametrically opposed" to the mercy of God.

"If there are a few innocent that suffer McCarthy has said that it is for the common good," he said.

"For the sake of 10 guilty ones he will damn an army. For the sake of 20 he is willing to wreck a whole administration. For the sake of 30 or 40 or 50 he will divide a nation right down to its democratic roots."

Dean Pike said many Americans have been made insensitive to the "grave abuses of Mr. McCarthy and his henchmen, unconcerned as to the hurt done fellow citizens who have been afforded no due process."

"A considerable proportion of the American people have been willing to let go by the boards the methods which have protected the freedom and dignity of the individual."

Phyllis Jane Robson Receives Nursing Cap

Phyllis Jane Robson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robson, RFD 2, was one of the 88 student nurses capped at Presbyterian hospital in Chicago on March 19.

The candlelight capping ceremony marked the conclusion of the six-month preparation for hospital experience. Traditionally the capping service is the most memorable event in the three year nursing course. The ceremony itself is impressive, but the hospital experience begins only after the student nurses have earned their caps. Today the new nurses reported for hospital duty in the full student uniform of Presbyterian hospital.

KILL WITH CARE

BY HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON

THE STORY: Jim Dunn, a private detective, was in Colorado City to attend the wedding of his friend Lieutenant Mark Richards when Chief of Police Otto Drover was murdered. The chief's daughter was with Jim at the reception when she received the news that her father had been stabbed.

II

Nancy Drover sat huddled in the corner of the back seat of the police sedan, while officer Early drove slowly through the tree-lined residential section of Colorado City. Jim Dunn held one of her hands in a grip of companionship at a time when there was only loneliness. The girl's body shook spasmodically, but she was dry-eyed, stunned.

"The wedding," Nancy said aloud. "Mark?"

"We haven't tried to get in touch with him," Early said. "Not yet. He was careful not to say where they were going. But don't worry. He'll be here to take charge."

"No," Nancy said firmly. "No. They—you mustn't do that to him—and to Joan. Not right away. Drive us to headquarters, Tim."

Early looked at Jim for guidance, and Dunn nodded. There would be activity and motion to distract Nancy's mind. He would be in a position where he might be of some help in the investigation. And Dr. Pardon would be there eventually to minister to her if occasion arose. Jim knew Nancy had the strength of character, of will, to cope with even this situation. What hurt him deeply was the necessity for draining away her strength and energy in such a cause, the necessary blurring and viewing of certain responses and hand-points.

"It might be best for a while," Jim said.

Early drove swiftly along the shadowed tunnel formed by the green arch of leaves and branches. Nancy Drover broke the silence only once, spoke as much to herself as to the others. "Dad did have something on his mind. I'm sure now. I know."

otherwise. His large horn-rimmed glasses perched on his beak of a nose, and gave him a bird-of-prey expression. He was tall and thin, and his body stooped as if it had learned early in life the necessity of dodging overhead objects designed for people of lesser stature. His brown eyes once seen without the distorting barrier of lenses, erased entirely the vulpine idea. They were deep set, understanding, and combined with the lines in his face to give an impression of sympathy, of knowledge of the crisis which life held in store for everyone who lived. Firsthand knowledge gained bitterly.

Obviously Stone was trying to place Jim. They shook hands while Early was getting a "nothing new" report from the operator.

Early said, "This is a break for us, Mr. Mayor. Having Dunn here, I mean. He helped us out before on a murder case. Maybe he can help again."

"Private detective," Jim said and tried to keep all defensiveness from his voice.

Stone said, "I see." He went on quickly. "We'll be glad of all the help we can get. But I hope to be able to get in touch with Lieutenant Richards to take charge."

"Please—no," Nancy said. "Let him have a little time at least."

Stone smiled at the girl. "We'll see. I appreciate your idea, your thoughts of others. Frankly, I do not know much about what happened. I only arrived here a few moments ago myself. Sergeant Early, I believe you have been more or less in charge?"

"About the way to put it," Early admitted.

"Good," Mayor Stone said briskly. "Let's go in an office where we can sit down."

It was perhaps inadvertent that the office chosen was that of Chief Drover. Nancy made no objection, no sound. She did look up at Jim as he helped her with a chair and her eyes were huge in her drawn face.

Early got right to business. "As you know, Mayor Stone, the minute I got in touch with you, I was told to come here and take charge. I'd already started things, and I had managed to get a few facts from the scene of the crime. I'll try to give them to you."

Apparently Chief Drover had driven directly downtown from the wedding reception. He had parked his car where it had later been found, in the Holt Block, and had walked north on Holt Avenue. A triple bill of horror pictures was being featured at a matinee at the Nugget Theater, with the doors open at 1:45. There was a large crowd of young people, and two men had appeared suddenly and begun throwing out candy to the crowd. Descriptions of these two men varied a little as to size, but the general idea had been similar. The men, who wore loose concealing smocks, were also outfitted in crude wigs of coarse yarn under conical hats. Their features were distorted by the long protruding teeth described variously as from one to three inches in length. They both wore yellow gloves, and they made curious noises and hideous grimaces at the crowd while distributing the candy.

The cashier, of course, had joined in the general belief that this was a publicity stunt, although she admitted she thought it odd the manager had not mentioned it to her. The manager himself, when finally reached at the reception, denied any knowledge of such a stunt, but was presently being held for further questioning.

Chief Drover had had difficulty making his way through the pushing crowd. The two "monsters" obliged by tossing out handfuls of candy so a path was cleared for him. In fact, they formed a gibbering escort for him, and everyone had a good laugh.

No one saw the actual attack. Chief Drover stopped moving abruptly. Any outcry he might have made was choked completely by the noise of the young people. He staggered a few steps, turned partway round, and fell to the sidewalk.

His fall, as well as the commotion caused by the candy scramble, had diverted any attention from the escape of the two "monsters." A crowd had gathered around the fallen man at once, but it was some little time before anything serious would have been more than enough to dampen the dark cloth of Drover's suit. According to a first examination by Dr. Pardon, the murder weapon was something in the nature of an ice pick.

Every available man on the force had been called out. The neighborhood was being combed painstakingly. So far no one had been found who had noticed the escape of the two men.
